ANNE MILLER

Anne Miller was famed for her speed in tap dance. Studio publicists concocted press releases claiming she could tap 500 times per minute, but, in truth, the sound of ultra-fast "500" taps was looped in later. In later life, Miller claimed to have invented pantyhose in the 1940s as a solution to the continual problem of tearing stockings during the filming of dance production numbers. The common practice had been to sew hosiery to briefs. If torn, the entire garment had to be removed and re-sewn with a new pair. Miller asked a hosiery maker to produce a single combined garment

CATEGORIES

TAP: Performed with tap shoes. This routine focusses on musicality and style in a tap performance.

STAGE: An entertaining routine, that does NOT involve lip syncing. STAGE routines are focussed on entertainment, they often have staging and props, there is a focus on production quality and entertainment but it does NOT include lip syncing. For example, a Bob Fosse style "Rich Man's Frug" routine or a Rockette style "All that Jazz" show theatre routine.

MUSICAL THEATRE: Routines are focussed on entertainment through lip syncing. The lip syncing is the main focus of this routine and the quality of the lip syncing will therefore be judged. If more than 10% of your routine has lip syncing, it should be in the Musical Theatre category.

SONG & DANCE: A routine comprised of singing and dancing, pre-recorded vocals are not permitted.

MONOLOGUE: Solo spoken scene with no music, the intention of the scene is a focus on acting/drama.

SCRIPTED SCENE: Duo/trio or group scripted acting scene with no music where the focus of the presentation is on acting/drama.

GENE KELLY

Gene Kelly was an American actor, dancer, singer, filmmaker, and choreographer. He was known for his energetic and athletic dancing style, and sought to create a new form of American dance accessible to the general public, "dance for the common man." he told reporters: "I don't believe in conformity to any school of dancing. I create what the drama and the music demand. While I am a hundred percent for ballet technique, I use only what I can adapt to my own use. I never let technique get in the way of mood or continuity."

SAVION GLOVER

Savion Glover is an American tap dancer, actor, and choreographer. Glover stated that his style is "young and funk." When asked to describe what funk is, he says it is the bass line. "Funk is anything that gets one's head on beat. It is riding with the rhythm. It is a pulse that keeps one rolling with the beat. He has been teaching tap since he was 14 years old. Glover created Real Tap Skills, and started HooFeRz Club School for Tap. Glover has a heavy foot for tap. He dances hard and loud in every step, and teaches his students how to "hit," a term related to one's ability to express oneself, complete a tap sequence, or say something

ROXANNE TACKIE

Roxanne is a Winnipeg-based dance educator and adjudicator with a lifelong passion for the performing arts. As a competitive dancer, Roxanne performed across North America, including Minneapolis, New York, and Vancouver, earning numerous accolades, including “Best Rhythm Tapper.” Her professional credits include appearances in Royal Manitoba Theatre Centre’s The Miracle Worker and the opening ceremonies of the Pan Am Games.

Since discovering her love for teaching in 2005, Roxanne has worked with dancers of all ages in both recreational and competitive settings. She currently leads the competitive tap program at Shelley Shearer School of Dance, teaches workshops and conventions across multiple provinces, and is certified through the Tap Dance Centre’s teacher syllabus program. Her teaching emphasizes musicality, discipline, and a deep respect for the historical roots of the art form.

Roxanne is also a Certified Adjudicator through the Dance Leadership Institute and adjudicates at dance competitions across Canada. She is committed to helping dancers develop confidence and artistry, while encouraging them to express themselves fully through the language of dance.

BILL “BOJANGLES” ROBINSON

Bill Robinson nicknamed Bojangles was an American tap dancer, actor, and singer, the best known and the most highly paid African-American entertainer in the United States during the first half of the 20th century. "Robinson's contribution to tap dance is exact and specific. He brought it up on its toes, dancing upright and swinging. His signature routine was the stair dance, in which he would tap up and down a set of stairs in a rhythmically complex sequence of steps, a routine that he unsuccessfully attempted to patent.

MICHELLE FINCH

Born and raised in Calgary, Michelle began dancing at the age of five. She trained and competed in all styles but developed a particular passion for tap and the art of creating her own rhythm. With over 20 years of experience teaching, performing, and choreographing across Canada, Michelle has also performed in New York, Australia, Chicago, and Seattle. She has received numerous awards for her choreography and is dedicated to helping each dancer develop and express their unique personality and style—empowering them to truly shine.

PEG LEG BATES

Clayton Bates was an African-American entertainer from Fountain Inn, South Carolina United States.

At 20, Bates was dancing on Broadway. In his "Jet Plane" finale, in which he leaped over the stage, landed on his wooden leg, and then executed a series of backward hops accompanied by trumpet blasts from the band, saw his leg puncture the wooden stage floor. It took half an hour to pull him out. After that, the stage floor was reinforced with metal sheeting.
